The Paducah Kentuckian says: In sympathy with a decline in other markets, ours has lately shown some signs of weakness, but on the whole has held its sale days a week. This season has been one of the most satisfactory ever experinced; prices started at a satisfactor; coint and after a steady advance at the beginning of the season they remained firm throughout. Receipts have been large, and up to date there has been sold 12,057 hhds. Probably not more than 2000 or 3000 will be sold during the bal-nce of the season. A larger business han ever is expected next year, and archousemen are making their prepara-
